

Dear Covenanters,

Apologies but your correspondent has been unwell. Here is some news that could not wait. Please keep up your interest and support for the covenanting process in your place. Your prayers are invaluable and are needed as never before by our Aboriginal brothers and sisters.

News from Salisbury Congress

Pastor Denise Champion has been appointed as the acting Congress minister at Salisbury for the six months to the end of this year while Rev Dean Whittaker is on leave in the Northern Territory. Excerpts gleaned from an email from Dean which has been updated by me follows...

Denise is an Adnyamathanha woman from the Flinders Ranges who is training to be a minister. Denise is one of the foundation members of Congress in South Australia, and in many ways Congress in South Australia emerged out of the dreams that Denise and others shared with the Uniting Church back in the 1980s and 1990s.

Last year Denise served for eleven months as the supply minister for Port Augusta and Quorn Uniting Church Congregations.

Denise is currently studying for the ministry and this placement will assist her in this process. The congregation has also kindly supporting her continuing study.

Denise has a great deal of wisdom and love for people. She has had to move down from Port Augusta and is living in the Parafield Gardens area. Thanks to those who have supported Denise with donations of furniture and other goods to help her settle in.

Where is Dean Whittaker?

Penny, Amber Hannah and I will be living in Mapuru, a homeland community in Arnhem Land on the mainland a little south west of Elcho Island.

Penny will be working in a Christian School there. I will be trying to keep a low profile and get some rest and refreshment. Mapuru is a really interesting place. If you want to know more about it see the links below.

See you in about 6 months.

Social Worker appointed to Salisbury Congress

Uniting Care Wesley Adelaide has provided a social worker position for the next twelve months to work with the Congress congregation in Adelaide. Claire Watkinson started in the role a few weeks ago. She is already building relationships with members of the congregation and their families. Uniting Care Wesley Adelaide have been extremely generous in making this position available.

The Paper Tracker

Some of the latest items on the Paper Tracker website are worth chasing up. Please consider these issues in your prayers. . .

Mimili: bush foods garden

posted 22 July 2010

The Federal Government recently provided a small grant to assist in the rejuvenation of the bush foods garden at Mimili. In the longer term, the Government has agreed to support community efforts to maintain the garden as an “alternative source of fresh fruit and vegetables.”

APY Lands: youth workers and youth sheds

posted 21 July 2010

Last week, the South Australian Government provided the Paper Tracker with an update on the delivery of youth programs on the APY Lands. The Government noted that youth sheds have been established in six communities and while the operating hours of these facilities are not fixed, the intention is “to have them open during Friday and Saturday evenings, and on weekends.” According to the Government, local Anangu are employed as youth shed workers “on a part time basis” but “recruiting and retaining” these staff is “an ongoing challenge.”

The Racial Discrimination Act and Aboriginal Justice in the NT

Covenanters will be interested to know that a revered and elderly statesman of the Uniting Church and the UAICC, Rev Dr Djiniyini Gondarra OAM is on his way to CERD. If you wish to support this worthy initiative you will need to email immediately to one or more of the addresses below. Read on. . .

In a matter of weeks the international body, the Committee for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD), will be meeting at the UN to review issues of discrimination around the world. The Australian government will present a report that will be a response to the UN's criticisms related to the Intervention. The CERD also take note of non-government organisation's (shadow) reports in an effort to reach an overview of the true nature of the situations from all sides.

'concerned Australians' are sending two Aboriginal representatives (Rosalie Kunoth-Monks OAM & Rev. Dr. Djiniyini Gondarra OAM), highly respected NT elders. Some of you may have heard Rosalie and Djiniyini in May when they took part in “A Conversation With Elders” at the Mlebourne Law School. They will carry with them to Geneva a comprehensive (shadow) report, Loss of Rights – the Despair of Aboriginal Communities in the NT, which basically provides a framework for Aboriginal voices who tell it from their point of view – a very different voice from that presented by the Australian government. Former Chief Justice, Alastair Nicholson, provides the legal background in the report.

Rosalie and Djiniyini will present the report to the 18 CERD Committee members. This is a most important opportunity for both to talk about what is happening to communities in the Northern Territory and they are both eager to have your help. To support them we are asking you to write to one or more selected members of the Committee whose details are provided below.

Points are provided for you to make into a letter, hopefully using some of your own words. If using the email option, please follow the instructions below.

(An internet link to the report will be provided after the 10th August, the date of its presentation at the United Nations)

Dear.....,

- Australian legislation pertaining to the Aboriginal people of the Northern Territory (NT) is unjust and discriminatory
- The 'concerned Australians' report, Loss of Rights – the Despair of Aboriginal Communities in the NT, will give the views of Aboriginal people themselves who suffer first hand from the effects of such legislation.
- The report will be presented in Geneva by two eminent Aboriginal elders, Rosalie Kunoth- Monks and Rev.Dr. Djiniyini Gondarra
- This will be a very great journey for two elderly and dedicated people, and we are asking you to please, not only read the report, but to find time to meet with and listen to them.

Yours sincerely,
(Name) and any other personal details you may wish to give.
