Samuel: known and loved

You will need:

- cardboard cylinder (toilet roll size)
- scraps of material
- glue, rubber bands
- felt pens, crayons or pencils
- scraps of lace
- wool or felt for hair
- chenille stick
- baby doll

What to do:

- Wrap material around the cardboard cylinder for the dress.
- Glue in place.
- Wind the chenille stick around her waist. Twist the ends together to make hands to hold the baby on one side of the toilet roll. (It will look like a belt on the other side.)
- Glue some wool or felt on for hair, on the sides and top of the head only.
- Glue a strip of material over the hair, and if desired, glue some lace trim around the edge of Hannah's head cover. Secure head cover with a rubber band if necessary.
- Draw faces on with felt pens, crayons or pencils: on one side draw Hannah with a sad face, on the other side (where the hands are) draw Hannah's happy face.
- Wrap the baby doll in a scrap of material.
- On Hannah's happy side, glue the baby to the chenille hands.
